"They Say."

They say-ah! well, suppose they do, But can they provo the story true? Suspicions may arise from naught But malice, envy, want of thought; Why count yourself among the "they" Who whisper what they dare not say?

They says-but why the tale rehearse,

And help to make the matter worse? No good tun possibly accrue From telling what may be untrue: And is it not a nobler plan To speak of all the best you can? They say-well, if it should be so, Why need you tell the tale of woe ? Will it the bitter work redress, Or make one pang of sorrow less root Will it the erring one restore Henceforth to "go and sin no --

They say - Oh! pause and look See how thy heart inclines to sin, te? Watch, lest in dark temptation's h Thou, too, should sink beneath its p Pity the Irail, weep o'er their fall, But speak of good, or not at all.

VARIETY.

"Ah, Quills, old fellow, saw a good thing in your paper yesterday." Quills—"Indeed? Am glad you were pleased. What was it?" "A pound of cheese."

Bluffin, who has heretofore been a Universalist, now believes there are two things destined to be eternally lost-his umbrella and the man who stole it.

NOTHING LIKE IT. - Don't marry till you can support a husband. That is the advice the Barnstable Patriot gives the Cape girls. There is nothing like a steady diet of fish.

A prominent elergyman says that all the editors are liars. The necessary corollary is that a great many clergymen must have been editors before they were clergymen.

The attempt to feed Robert Toombs mint julep with a spoon was a failure. "Gimme that bowl a minute," whispered Uncle Bob, and the next second he saw the knot-hole in the bottom of it.

Honest Enough .- Josh Billings writes that " Philosophers aul agree that the milk is put into the kokernut, and the hole is neatly plugged up; but who the feller is who duz it, the philosophers are honest enough, for a wonder, to admit they can't tell us."

KEEPING A SECRET .- " My dear Murphy," said an Irishman to a friend, "why did you betray that secret I told you?" "Is it betray that you call it? Sure, when I found I wasn't able to keep it myself, didn't I do well to tell it to some one that could keep it?

A Georgia editor speaks of " the shirt of Nestor, if his memory serves him right." His memory does serve him right; and he might have added that Adam killed Nestor with a rolling pin for asserting that Venus had a wart under her

MUST BE.—Six skunks got into a Pennsylvania camp-meeting last week, and after standing it as long as he could, one of the brethren rose and said: "If you all say so, beloved, and I think you will, we'll get out of this. The arch enemy of mankind must be stirring up his fires, for I am sure I smell the gas.'

The Rochester Union (Rep.) states that a colored witness in the Johnstown murder trial said he was a Democrat, and explained thus : " I signed de pledge t'ree y'ar ago," he said, "haved myself an' voted de publikin ticket. But I'se a Democrat now; I tuk to drinkin,' boss, an' got into bad kumpa'ny."

" Barnum's Great Centennial Academy of Obeet Teaching" is what it will be called this year. The Bridgeport Standard says : "He promises a regular old-fashioned Hail Columbia Yankee Doodle Fourth of July celebration every day, and he expects to be crowned with the title, ' Centennial Barnum.' "

TWENTY YEARS HENCE .- " Ah Sin," in Chinese, means Mr. Victory. Twenty years hence some Yankee, cooling himself on the utmost peak of the Sierra Nevada, will cry: " Ah Sin, where is thy victory !" and two million bald-headed Asiatics will patiently rise and say, "We are klumin," Faller Allaham, thice hundle housen mlore."

" WAITING FOR THE VERDICT."-The German nurse-" Is it a German or an English papy?" The mamma-" Well, I don't know. You see she was born in England, but my husband is German." The German nurse-"Ach, soh! Den ve vill vait to see vat lenkvitch she vill schbeak, and zen ve vill know!"

IMMEDIATELY .- Brown, the mind-reader, told a Louisville reporter in a recent interview that he believed he could determine to a certainty whether Henry W. Beecher was guilty or innocent. And the Plymouth Church Committee immediately telegraphed him, asking him what he would take to leave the country and travel in Africa for the next ten years.

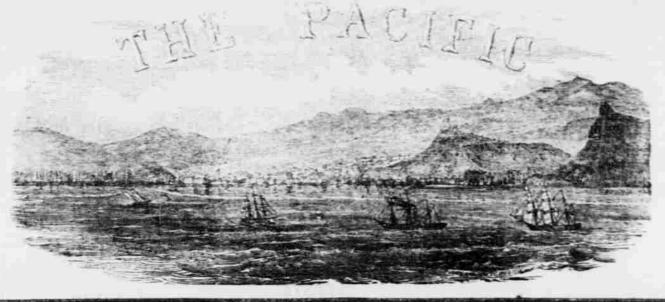

AFTER MARRIAGE.—He used to cramp his feet in little boots, and limp painfully to her residence every Saturday evening, but the morning after his marriage he went into a shoe-shop, drew a chalk mark around his foot, and about an inch distant from it on both sides, and at the heel and toe, and ordered the proprietor to put him up a pair of boots after that pattern.

ALLITERATIVE. - A middle-aged compositor in the Gazette office, Trenton, N. J., named Peter P. Packer, also served an apprenticeship at the printing business at Princeton, and the following is an alliteration composed by himself: Preston Packer, practical printer, previously pigpen painter; poor, proud, particular per present publisher (part proprietor) Princeton

I married a widow who had a grown up daughter. My father visited my house very o, en, fell in love with my step-daughter, and married came my son-in-law and my step-daughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. Some time after my wife had a son. He was my father's brother-in-law, and my uncle; for he was the brother of my stepdaughter. My father's wife-i e., my stepdaughter, also had a son; he was, of course, my brother, and in the meantime my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was bry Goods, Clothing, Hats Furnishing Goods, Ladies' and my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather.

NEW PROVERBS: Strike with the iron pot. Brag 'tis makes perfect To each saint his scandal. Anything for a quiet wife. While we live let us give. 'Tis good to be wary and wise. One swallow doesn't make a bummer. A contented mind is a continual beast. It is an ill wind that blows two in a bush. The devil is not so white as he is painted.

A whistling boy is father to a crowing man. · Always laugh at your own jokes ; if you want anything well done do it yourself. A cursing goose never rolls to the mill for moss for the gander; and yet it is true that a bird in the hand always stays home to roost. Ponder
